Description
In the Doxygen User API reference, the group "Simulation" is of prime importance: it is listed first, and documents top-level classes like GISASSimulation. However, it also contains lots of other classes. For more clarity, everything that is not inheriting from class Simulation, should be grouped elsewhere. By the way, is KzComputation needed in the user API, or could it be relegated to some "internal" group?
